Sir John Macdonald and the Hon.

Mr. Campbell Examined. OTTAWA, Sept. 17 .- The Royal Commission met at noon. Sir John Macdonald becan his evidence at the beginning of the Paand others spoke upon the subject to him. Sir John gave an account of the first interview which McMullen and Smith had with him and Sir Francis Hincks. At that time Sir John told them pleasantly that it was flattering to Canadians for Americans to seek to invest capital in this country. Sir John's idea was to organize a powerful company to venture to take English and American capitalists. He has never held conversation with leading men in the Dominion, with reference to the organization of such Canadian company. Sir John then gave an account of Sir Hugh's and McMullen's interview with the Government, as already published. Referring to McMullen's statement, representing that interview with him, when Sir John Macdenald told him of the sgreement with Sir Hugh, and that be, Sir John, approved of it. Witness said this statement was untrue. He (Sir John) listened to what McMullen had to

It became the policy of the Government to entirely exclude Americans. In July, Sir John received a letter from Sir Hugh, stating that be had to come to an agreement with Cartier, but the terms of the agreement were not stated. Sir John telegraphed to Sir Geo, Cartier disapproving of the arrangement, and eaying he would go down to Montreal. Cartier telegraphed stating that Sir Hugh had withdrawn the letter, also one from Sir Hugh withdrawing his letter. This was the only arrangement ever made with Sir Hugh, or the company which he represented. He (Sir John) bad no communication with Sir Hugh upon the subject from that day to this.

McMallen's statement that subsequently an arrangement was effected between Sir George and Sir Hugh was false. He never heard of such an arrangement. He received from Mr. Abbott two sums of $10,000 each. No other sum was received. McMullen's statement that Sir John had been given $40,000 was absolutely talse. He did not believe Sir

Sir John then recounted efforts to smalgamate the companies, and their failure, and the Government came to the conclusion that neither the Canadian Pacific nor the Inter- accepted. oceanic could get the contract, and the Government took steps to form a company representing all sections of the Dominion.

With each tender must be enclosed the names of two responsible persons willing to give security for the due completion of the When at Kingston he got a letter from Sir High that he would subscribe $20,000 to the Unterlo election. Not one cent of this contribution was spent in his (Sir John's) election. Hurlburt and Smith came from Chicago to witness. They complained of Sir Hugh's treatment. They had advanced money and must take steps to get it back. He told them the courts were open to them, and if he were in their places he would sue Sir Hugh and assess his ships. Smith said: "We don't come to blackmail, but simply to

Sir John referred to the statements recently

Hon. Mr. Campbell supplemented his testimony by stating that Sir John had informed Sir Allan that he had subscribed $40,000 in aid of the Ontario election.

After signing Campbell's evidence, the Convention adjourned till 2:20 p.m. At that time the Commission resumed the investigation. Sir John A. Macdonald was sworn. He gave a long narrative of the affairs of the milroad from its beginning. He was unfavorable to American capitalists, and strongly advised the construction of the road by Can-adjans. He was also desirous of amalgamating the Pacific and Inter-Oceanic roads. Having Tarfailed in this be, with the Government, proceeded to form a new Company, selecting men who would gain the confidence of the country. Every precaution was taken to prevent American capitalists from getting, directly or indirectly, a control of the comferred without the consent of the Government for five years. During the election he received a communication from Sir Hugh, offering a contribution of $25,000 to aid his friends in the election. Not a cent of that was applied to the aid of Sir John. He regarded himself as merely a trustee of the contributed $10,000 each time. The entire mount received was $45,000, $25,000 of which Sir Hugh contributed without any solicitations from him. McMullen's statement that Sir Hugh had made him, Sir John, an indefinite loan of $40,000, was false. He denied McMullen's statement that he telegraphed from Ottawa to Sir Hugh during the ciection for a man; was not in Ottawa dur-lar the election. McMullen and Ames called on him after the charter was completed, at deing that they had been badly used by Sir Hugh, and would take proceedings against him for their advance. He told them if he was in their place he would do likewise. They referred to the admission of Americans into the company, but were told it was impossible. Smith wrote from Chicago complaining against Sir Hugh, and threatened to lay matters before McMullen. He stated that Sir Hugh had threatened to publish the coridence and contract between him and the Government. It was utterly falso that $120,000 of Government money was lying in the Merchant's Bank. It was false with regard to Hillard Cameron's note before elecon. Cameron came to him and said be was hard up, and wanted a note discounted. He telegraphed to Sir Hugh to help his friend.

To In reply to Judge Day he said that he had been aware of the Allan-McMullen correspondence in the Montreal Herald.

The Commission a journed till to morrow to allow Sir Joba time to produce copies of the correspondence between him and Mc-

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—Sir John Macdonald concluded his evidence before the Royal Commission yesterday, but presented nothing not contained in his testimony given the day previous. He produced the letters given him Mr. Lengevin was the next witness, his testimeny being simply a corroboration of that given by Macdonald and Campbell.

The Cammission adjourned till to-day.
